

CAPITALIZATION QUIZ

Correct the capitalization errors in the following sentences. Sentences contain more than one error!

1. On their honeymoon my grandparents visited the carpathian mountains, the great pyramid of giza, and the great salt lake.
2. You'd better check with the human resources department to find out if you're allowed to take off for national wiener dog day this spring.
3. "Oh, I think my zebu's gone missing! is a good movie and all," admitted ludmilla. "It's just that I don't think that it'll win the academy award for best film."
4. Our copy of how to polish corkscrews safely must be around here somewhere; have you checked the employee lounge in warehouse 6?
5. My parents were interested in purchasing a tesla model x until they learned that doesn't, in fact, run on coal; now they say that they'll never trust another article in consuming reports again.
6. I think trouble is brewing with our neighbors, the grisholms: on one side of the front lawn, mrs. grisholm has planted a sign that says "friedrich sobald for mayor," while on the other side, mr. johnson's sign says "reelect mayor gabriela dronkenlanden."
7. Our plan for the road trip is to drive east until we reach west northburg, where we'll have lunch; then, we'll turn north and drive until we reach south easton.
8. "Okay," smiled our waiter at tulip's two lips, "who ordered the spring rolls, and who ordered the chinese eggrolls? And your cabbage rolls will be right up!"
9. If you're really interested in learning about the history of northern estonia, you should take "introduction to the beautiful baltics" with professor scamander.
10. My aunt evanna has two dogs: a dalmatian named stripes and black labrador named spot.

CAPITALIZATION QUIZ KEY

Correct the capitalization errors in the following sentences. Sentences contain more than one error!

1. On their honeymoon my grandparents visited the Carpathian Mountains, the Great Pyramid of Giza, and the Great Salt Lake.
2. You'd better check with the Human Resources Department to find out if you're allowed to take off for National Wiener Dog Day this spring.
3. "Oh, I think My Zebu's Gone Missing! is a good movie and all," admitted Ludmilla. "It's just that I don't think that it'll win the Academy Award for Best Film."
4. Our copy of How to Polish Corkscrews Safely must be around here somewhere; have you checked the employee lounge in Warehouse 6?
5. My parents were interested in purchasing a Tesla Model X until they learned that doesn't, in fact, run on coal; now they say that they'll never trust another article in Consuming Reports again.
6. I think trouble is brewing with our neighbors, the Grisholms: on one side of the front lawn, Mrs. Grisholm has planted a sign that says "Friedrich Sobald for mayor," while on the other side, Mr. Johnson's sign says "Reelect Mayor Gabriela Dronkenlanden."
7. Our plan for the road trip is to drive east until we reach West Northburg, where we'll have lunch; then, we'll turn north and drive until we reach South Easton.
8. "Okay," smiled our waiter at Tulip's Two Lips, "who ordered the spring rolls, and who ordered the Chinese eggrolls? And your cabbage rolls will be right up!"
9. If you're really interested in learning about the history of northern Estonia, you should take "Introduction to the Beautiful Baltics" with Professor Scamander.
10. My aunt Evanna has two dogs: a Dalmatian named Stripes and black Labrador named Spot.