

COMMAS QUIZ

Add commas to the following sentences. In the blank next to each sentence place the abbreviation for the rule that you used to determine that the sentence needed a comma. Not all these sentences will need commas.

1. We tried to persuade Piotr not to eat the rum-cake but he simply wouldn't listen to reason.

2. Fearing severe punishment the English class completed cheerfully whatever tasks that the instructor assigned them. _____
3. I'd turn back if I were you! _____
4. Please bring in the ostrich feathers Japheth and leave them on the sideboard. _____
5. It was rather cool that day yet Edwina just couldn't keep from walking in the ocean.

6. St. George immediately jumped upon his milk-white stallion and galloped off in great haste to do battle against the fire-breathing dragon with the scaly skin and an angry princess as its helpless prisoner. _____
7. Don't forget to lock the door turn out the lights and put out the octopus. _____
8. Please return the envelope to the State Morticians' Society 101 Cooler Road Deadstiff Minnesota for a complete refund. _____
9. The servants wash dry walk play with and put to bed our boll weevils. _____
10. Whenever the sloth does that I roll up a newspaper and swat her on the nose. _____

COMMAS QUIZ

Add commas to the following sentences. In the blank next to each sentence place the abbreviation for the rule that you used to determine that the sentence needed a comma. Not all these sentences will need commas.

1. We tried to persuade Piotr not to eat the rum-cake, but he simply wouldn't listen to reason. compound sentences
2. Fearing severe punishment, the English class completed cheerfully whatever tasks that the instructor assigned them. introducers and interrupters
3. I'd turn back if I were you! CORRECT
4. Please bring in the ostrich feathers, Japheth, and leave them on the sideboard. introducers and interrupters
5. It was rather cool that day, yet Edwina just couldn't keep from walking in the ocean. compound sentences
6. St. George immediately jumped upon his milk-white stallion and galloped off in great haste to do battle against the fire-breathing dragon with the scaly skin and an angry princess as its helpless prisoner. CORRECT
7. Don't forget to lock the door, turn out the lights, and put out the octopus. series
8. Please return the envelope to the State Morticians' Society, 101 Cooler Road, Deadstiff, Minnesota, for a complete refund. dates and addresses
9. The servants wash, dry, walk, entertain, and put to bed our boll weevils. series
10. Whenever the sloth does that, I roll up a newspaper and swat her on the nose. introductory subordinate clauses